

Historic Homes of Gaylord: Architectural Evaluations

Address: 308 S. Court/ James Hazard House

No. of Stories: 1.5

Exterior Wall Surface Material/s: rough-hewn wide-plank clapboard;
and fish-scale shingle at gables

Roof Shape/Materials: front gable/ asphalt shingles

Foundation Material/s: concrete block

Primary Window Type/ Material/s: 1 over 1 double hung/ wood

Special Identifying Features: small, compact massing; intact detached carriage house

Approximate age: late 19th century or early 19th century

Architectural Description:

Gable Front Family/National Folk Style (after 1850):

Simple gable front homes were dominant during the pre-railroad and railroad-expansion eras.

Historic photos show the home had two centrally located fireplaces and simple skinny-clapboard siding. The homes' gable front and columned front porch were meant to echo the typical façade of a Greek temple. More recent photos show the home was "craftsman-ized", most likely during 1915-1925, with the addition of the rubble stone fireplace, rough siding, fish-scale shingles and rectangular porch columns.